FOREWORD

To the student of genealogy the roll of the Saint Nicholas Society presents a veritable mine of wealth, but, unhappily, like most mines it requires to be "worked" in order to reveal its richness. So conscious were the founders of the Society of their right to be regarded as "Old New Yorkers" by virtue of their birth and lineage that they took no thought to record the precious facts for the benefit of their descendants. The mere statement that Washington Irving was a son of William Irving, who resided in the State prior to 1789, was deemed sufficient to render him eligible for election in the Society, and not until the last twenty years has a more detailed statement been required. Even then a list of names, without dates or further particulars, was the most demanded, so that the Committee appointed a year ago to compile the "genealogical records" of the Society found themselves confronted with much genealogy, but practically no records. Compelled, therefore to resort to a process which some may have regarded as "boring" the Committee sent to each member of the Society once and again a request for particulars as to his line of descent, and furnished a form for the insertion of the necessary names and dates; with what result this pamphlet will show. If the veins of ore thus discovered are not more numerous the explanation must be patent to the members whose lineage does not appear.

The Committee have indulged themselves, however, in a certain amount of research and are therefore able to present the genealogies of some two hundred former members, many of whom are not represented by descendants in the Society at the present time.

Fully conscious that their work is not only incomplete, but probably inaccurate in some particulars, the Committee submit this pamphlet in the hope that its defects and shortcomings may prove the strongest inducements to the members of the Society to correct what is therein amiss and to supply what is lacking.

The data for a work of the general and permanent value which the Genealogical Record of this Society should possess can only be obtained through the active co-operation of all the members, and the Committee are minded to issue a supplementary pamphlet, or even a volume, when provided with the material for publication.

New York, Paas, 1902.

NOTE

This pamphlet is not intended for permanent preservation, but is sent out for the purpose of ensuring as great fullness and accuracy as possible. Members are urgently requested to examine it carefully and to correct errors and supply omissions.

Members who have not yet filled out blanks and forwarded them to the Committee are again requested to do so as soon as convenient.

It is the desire of the Committee to obtain the line of descent of every former member of the Society, and to this end an appeal is made to the present members for information.

The volume as eventually published will, it is hoped, contain the line of every present and former member, with, in each case, a brief sketch of the earliest New York ancestor.
